

Rev. Megan Lineberger was born in Gastonia, NC and grew up in both Carolinas. She attended Lenoir-Rhyne in Hickory, NC, the last graduating class of the "College" before it became a "University" receiving a B.A. in Religious Studies: Family Development.

Pastor Megan worked as a Director of Youth and Family Ministry for five years at St. John's Lutheran in Cherryville, NC while discerning the call to seminary. She went to LTSS in Columbia in the fall of 2013 and graduated in 2017.

Fun Fact: Pastor Megan received a SCWELCA scholarship during her time in seminary. Her first call was as Associate Pastor of Lutheran Church of the Redeemer in Charleston, SC. She is now solo pastor of Bethel Lutheran in White Rock, SC.

Megan is living proof that community and church support matter. She was raised in the church, nurtured by SCLCY, and formed through outdoor ministry at Lutheridge during college summers. Her areas of passion within ministry include pastoral care/building relationships, leading worship, and serving outside the walls to better the communities in which we live. Aside from ministry Pastor Megan loves to run, sew, play with her dogs, and spend time with her husband and step-daughter.
